

PAT CASH

- Born 27 May, 1965 in Melbourne, Australia
- Won the Men's Singles Championships at Wimbledon in 1987 and was a doubles finalist there in 1984 and 1985
- Was runner-up at the Australian Open in 1987 and 1988
- Won a further 5 ATP Tour singles titles at Melbourne in 1982 (becoming the youngest to win a Grand Prix title), Brisbane in 1983, Nancy and Johannesburg in 1987, and Hong Kong in 1990
- ITF Junior World Champion in 1981, he won the Boys Junior Singles Championships at Wimbledon and the US Open the following year
- Was a finalist at the Melbourne Indoors in 1984, Sydney Indoor in 1987 and Seoul in 1990
- Also has won 11 career doubles titles to date and reached the finals a further 6 times
- Reached the semi-finals in singles at the US Open in 1984
- Represented Australia in the Davis Cup from 1983 to 1989, leading his country to victory in the World Group in both 1983 and 1986
- Plagued by injuries, he has made several comebacks, first overcoming back trouble in 1985, an appendectomy in 1986, arthroscopic surgery on his right knee and later an Achilles tendon injury in 1988, and a right elbow injury followed by a ruptured Achilles tendon in 1989
- Career prize money $1.85 million
- Highest singles ranking 4 (9 May 1988) and doubles ranking 6 (13 August 1984)
- Coached by Ian Barclay, trainer Anne Quinn
- Separated from former girlfriend Anne-Britt Kristiansen in May 1989, son Daniel (born 27 May 1986) and daughter Mia (born 6 April 1988); Married Emily Bendit in Jamaica on 22 July 1990
- Enjoys heavy metal music and Australian Rules football, his favourite team being Hawthorne in Melbourne
- A talented guitarist, he held a recording session in 1988 and released "Your Momma Don't Dance" accompanied by other musician friends
- Lives in Fulham, London but frequently visits his homeland, Australia, where he has opened his own tennis academy.

12 March 2004 / C:\My Documents\Cash\Cash Bio.doc